

A patient can take multiple tests at a time.
A "lab_list" is a collection or a batch of lab tests

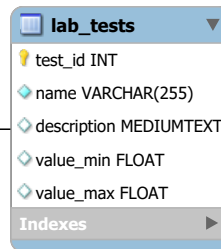

1

1..*

1..*

A "lab result" represents the value a patient obtains for a specific lab test.

1

A lab test is the generic type of test the patient can take. For example, a real-life entry could be blood Platelet count. It also contains reference values which can be used to compare the patient's actual value.